For the past seven years the Above: 2000 Boston Music Award nominee for Outstanding Swing Act, Bellevue Cadillac will be cruising into Marion to headline the Marion Police Brotherhood's annual outdoor concert fund-raiser at Silvershell Beach this Saturday, June 30 beginning at 7:00 pm. The group features band leader, guitarist and songwriter Doug Bell, and an absolutely boisterous brass section that is second-to-none. Tickets are $10 if purchased in advance at the Marion Police Station and $18 at the entrance on the day of the show. For more information, please call 866-467-0004.

Above: Third graders at Mattapoisett's Center School ended the school year with a rousing musical titled "Broadway Comes to Barstow Street." Hamming it up in the Ascot Scene from "My Fair Lady" are Sam Schlitzer as Professor Henry Higgins and Lily Murolo as Eliza Doolittle. The play was directed by Luice Moncevitich and musical was under the direction of Jean West.

On the cover: Residents and town officials in Rochester recently witnessed the dedication of a beautiful monument in memory of the town's past firefighters. The new monument and public park has been deeded to the Town of Rochester by Mrs. Lloyd Vaughan and is located across from Lloyd's Market on Hartley Road. A stone memorial for Mr. Vaughan stands at the entrance to the landscaped park and a granite marker listing the names of residents who served the Rochester Fire Department sits further back, topped by a silver fire engine bell. "Cannons and Costumes"

Fairhaven Fourth of July Parade

Wear a costume, march in a parade, watch the firing of the Fort Phoenix cannons, and see re-enactors from different periods of time fire a gun salute at this year's American History Costume Parade, sponsored by the Fairhaven Office of Tourism on Wednesday, July 4 at 9:30 am. Adults and children are invited to dress as their favorite characters from any period of American history to walk from Cushman Park to Fort Phoenix.

The parade will form between 9:00 and 9:30 am on the Green Street side of Cushman Park, near the bandshell. Anyone dressed in costume may show up to march in the parade. Also scheduled to appear are Miss New Bedford, National Guard units, floats, Mother Goose, the Fairhaven Grange, a barbershop quartet, restored and contemporary military and civilian vehicles including an Ideal Milk truck, a WWII Jeep, a Maxim fire engine, and a telephone company truck.

"Parade Marshal Charles Cromwell has done a terrific job organizing a larger parade this year," said Fairhaven Tourism Director Christopher Richard. "Of course, we still rely on children and adults showing up in costume to march, too. This is a family event that anyone may take part in."

When the parade of costumed marchers arrives at Fort Phoenix, an Independence Day Program will be held. A brief history of the fort, built in 1775, will be presented, pm by Chairman Richard Cutler. Also present were Selectman Naida Parker, Selectman Patricia Ryan, Town Administrator James Huntoon, and Administrative Assistant Veronica Lafreniere.

The board first met in Executive Session with ORR School Superintendent Betty Quinn and Rochester School Committee Chairman Shirley Bourque to discuss pending contract issues with the teacher's union. They would resume the meeting in Open Session at 7:20 pm.

After unanimously approving the minutes of the June 18 meeting and the Executive Session minutes from the same date, the board considered rescinding their previous vote to accept the name "Noble Knoll Road" for a new public way. According to Selectman and Town Clerk Naida Parker, after consulting her records there already exists a street named "Oak Knoll Road" in town off Neck Road. It was feared this would cause some confusion in similar-sounding addresses. As such, the board unanimously voted to rescind their previous unanimous vote to accept the road name and agreed to contact the residents who made the initial request to have them make another suggestion.

A similar road-naming request was also made to designate a public way as "Foss Farm Lane" off Mendell Road. There being no existing streets with similar-sounding names, the board unanimously voted to accept and approve this request. Lastly, the board endorsed an Agricultural Preservation Restriction (APR) for 15 acres of farmland located off Walnut Plain Road owned by Ben and Sue Gilmore. This will permanently protect the property in open space and limit the property for agricultural use.

Under the Town Administrator's report, Mr. Huntoon said he received a report from Independent Associates outlining the recent assessment of the town's disability needs. With these stringent requirements being met, Mr. Huntoon feels the town can "little by little start working on (handicap-accessibility) issues to qualify for the RDA loan."

In other matters, Mr. Huntoon informed the board that they have a preconstruction meeting for the Rochester Senior Center project planned for later in the week; the board has been invited to meet with the Personnel Board on July 10 at 6:00 pm to meet their new members; and the town has made the final payment on the new Town Highway Barn project and have obtained an occupancy permit for the facility.

Conservation Agent Laurell J. Farinon next submitted the following people to be considered for appointment to the Open Space and Recreation Committee, an ad hoc committee of the Conservation Commission (ConCom) and Town Forest Committee appointed by the Board of Selectmen: Helen Duryea; Laurene Gerrior; Arnold Johnson; John Hall; Sandra A. Keese; Veronica Lafreniere; Peter Mathieu; Rosemary T. Smith; and Lynnea Walker. All have expressed interest in serving and the newly-revived committee was planning to have a kickoff meeting on June 27 at 7:00 pm.

Selectman Ryan had concerns about appointing anyone to this committee until the ConCom appointed someone to serve on the Soil Conservation Board. "I'm sorry ... as far as I'm concerned, we asked to make this appointment some time ago," Selectman Ryan said.

There are currently only three active members on the Soil Conservation Board, and they are lacking a representative from the ConCom and another from the Board of Health.

Chairman Cutler said he understood Selectman Ryan's frustration, but the board agreed to address that problematic issue as a separate matter and unanimously voted to appoint the recommended members to the Pamela Robinson next submitted a letter expressing her interest in serving on the town's Historical Commission. The board unanimously voted to appoint Ms. Robinson to the commission for a term to expire in June of 2004.

The board also received an invitation to attend the Greater New Bedford Women's Center's Open House, to be held on July 12 from 6:00 to 8:00 pm.

In other matters, the board:

- Noted State Representative William Straus advised them that the Mary's Pond Bill had been endorsed by the House of Representatives and was now being sent on to the State Senate for approval.
- Voted to send a letter to the Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen suggesting that instead of appointing Selectman Raymond Andrews to the Veterans Council, they should instead appoint Rochester Selectman Naida Parker to "avoid the potential for the appearance of impropriety" with both Mattapoisett Selectman Barry Denham serving as the Veterans Agent and Mattapoisett Selectman Andrews sitting on the Veterans Council. The Rochester board felt this would also provide more balanced representation from the two towns on veterans' matters.

- Agreed to ask the town's various financial offices to begin the process of cleaning out the Town Hall vault and discard any outdated or unnecessary records. "I think we should make it clear that this is a serious concern of the Board of Selectmen," Chairman Cutler said.

- Further discussed the ongoing problems with the town's Soil Conservation Board (SCB). In talking to a member of the SCB, Chairman Cutler learned that they were in the process of "reinstating" the bonds which were being held on active Earth Removal Permits. At some point in the recent past, the SCB decided the bonds weren't necessary, and that has created problems in enforcing permit requirements.

"I think anyone who has taken out an Earth Removal Permit and has removed gravel should be required to pay the necessary fees to the town ... as if it were a (commercial) gravel operation from the beginning," Chairman Cutler said. "We've got to treat this like someone owing back taxes."

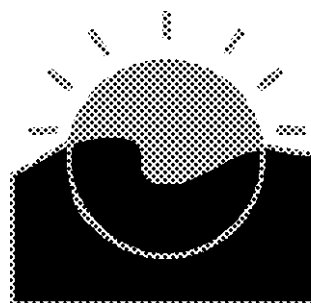

"If we don't get this fixed, we're going to have a mishmash of (earth removal) operations in town," Selectman Ryan agreed. "We'll have a situation where the right hand won't know what the left hand is doing."

The board unanimously voted to first send a strong letter to the Conservation Commission, requesting that they appoint a representative to the Soil Conservation Board. They also agreed to look into the rules and regulations governing Earth Removal Permits to make sure that active permits are meeting their requirements in terms of hours of operation.

"I do want to make it clear that the three active members of the (Soil Conservation Board) have been working diligently to correct past mistakes," Chairman Cutler said. "It's just that attendance has been a problem."

• Agreed to send letters to the towns of Middleboro and Acushnet, requesting them to suggest a couple of dates on which the town officials could "walk the bounds" between Rochester and their community.

With no pressing matters on the agenda for next week and the pending Fourth of July Holiday, the board

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Is Southeastern Massachusetts really that far south that carpetbaggers are arriving? There are a lot of unanswered questions connected with the proposed senior living facility "The Regatta" which is planned for the lot near the (Mattapoisett) Police Station. The presentation from the developers made at the American Legion Hall last week didn't help their cause. In fact, they did not have the answers to some pertinent questions.

One, dealing with the traffic that will come from 100 cars coming and going from the facility, was put on hold, unanswered even when Brian Sullivan of Rizzo Associates, a civil engineering firm working on the project arrived (late). He never broached the subject. It was a viable question because it dealt with persons more than 55-years-old driving in and out of the complex onto an already-busy road. Michael Brinett of the architectural team said the project will not necessarily generate more traffic, adding that the curve in the road near the project could be straightened out, thereby alleviating the problem.

However, Daniel Hart of E.A. Fish Associates / Mattapoisett Housing Associates said: "We don't have answers to the traffic." Fish is collaborating with James Lanagan on the project. How Lanagan fits in is curious. His highly-touted single-family house development near the golf course has generated one sale so far. Is this new project his bailout? Fish is associated with Suffolk Construction and is an associate of former Senator William "Biff" McClean, who was convicted of conflict of interest charges related to his state office. Selectman Paul Lambalot works for Suffolk Construction. Does the picture get clearer? Now we have the important players.

Another important issue that surfaced during the meeting was the height of the three-story structure being 50 feet. The town's fire department hand ladder reaches to 34 feet straight. Lanagan said a waiver would be sought. Who pays for the new ladder truck? Take a guess.

Daniel Lee, of the (Mattapoisett) Board of Health, said the water runoff from the proposed site was a constant problem for neighboring homes since the police station was built. Sullivan said the wetlands issue was under review by the local Conservation Commission (let's see what wisdom is applied here) and added that he would be surprised if the ConCom didn't agree with the proposed plans. He said detention basins will hold the water and then gradually release it into the nearby brook. Lee said the brook is already over-worked and asked how much water the basin will hold. Sullivan said he would get back to Lee with the answer.

Another unanswered question: As to the overseeing of the basins to make sure they are adequately functioning, Sullivan said the task would fall to the Conservation Commission and Board of Health with the ConCom mandating an operation maintenance plan.

Lanagan said he would stand behind his word — which is what? He said the developers are going to the sewer board on June 27 to discuss a tie-in for the project. This brought forth questions about other areas that are scheduled for tie-ins and whether the capacity with the Fairhaven Sewage Treatment Plant, to which the town is tied, would be exceeded. Stay tuned and make your protests heard.

Sincerely,
Michael Couture

My name is Catia Cividini. I am a young girl from Brazil, who has had the pleasure of spending almost one year of my life living in United States. I have been a senior at Old Rochester Regional High School in Mattapoisett.

I have had this opportunity to be in America because I got a full scholarship from the AFS Brazil. I will never be able to express how grateful I am, but I would like to thank some of the people who helped us, the exchange students. I want say thank you very much to everybody from the Old Rochester Regional, to the AFS Parent Chapter Group for their support, and to the AFS Student Club and their advisors, Mr. Kelsey and Miss Franco. My thanks also goes to the towns of Marion, Mattapoisett, and Rochester.

In addition, my thanks go to all the AFS volunteers and the other 13 AFS students in the Southeast District of the Massachusetts Bay Area team. Special thanks go to the Leigh & Peter Hemingway family of Mattapoisett and their children, especially to Christine and my host brother who helped me to have fun while being here. This wonderful family opened their doors to a new experience and to someone who they had never met before.

FINANCING IS WHAT COUNTS

When you're selling a home, it's not the price that counts as much as the buyer's ability to pay. You can have the best house on the block for sale at a give-away price, but it will never sell to the prospect who loves it but cannot afford it - or thinks he can't afford it.

An experienced agency like ours, on the other hand, can be expected to discuss personal matters such as financing with prospects. Prospects will tell our agent freely what they would hold back from you. During such a frank exchange, we have the ability and experience to suggest ways to make buying your home possible for such discouraged clients. At our office, we've saved many sales that both Buyer and Seller thought were impossible.

We can suggest the advantages and drawbacks of 15 as opposed to 30 year mortgages; refer prospects to the bank that's most likely to lend to buyers in their situation; and suggest ways of financing that weren't available a few years ago. It pays to sell through our office.

Animal Advice Jay Gould, DVM

IGUANAS

I recently went to buy an iguana but the person at the pet shop wanted me to send a lot of money on a fancy light and an under the tank heater. Was he trying to rip me off?

No, he was trying to insure good health in the iguana. Ultraviolet lights are vital to the health of iguanas. Without a light that produces ultraviolet radiation the iguana will die of rickets. This is by far the most common cause of death of pet iguanas.

Why would an iguana need a heater?

Iguanas are poikilothermic (cold blooded) and need an external heat source to maintain their body temperature. Their bodies function best when they can elevate their temperatures to 95°F during the day and lower them to 75°F at night. A heat lamp above the tank and a heater below the tank accomplish this best.

Holiday Concert and Fireworks

The University of Massachusetts Dartmouth will hold its seventh annual Independence Day Pops Concert and Fireworks on Sunday, July 1. Performances by the Colonial Navy of Massachusetts, UMD percussion ensemble, and the Ronnie Rose Band will open the concert at 6:00 pm. Artists at Center School

Once again the children in Grades 1-3 at Center School in Mattapoisett have had their art curriculum enriched by several "Visiting Artists." The Visiting Artists Program is supported with funding from the Mattapoisett Parent-Teacher Association (PTA). The Visiting Artists from this past spring included three parents and one aunt of students at the school. Mr. Chuck Fontaine worked with watercolors. Ms. Angie MacDonald worked with pottery clay. Ms. Sarah Piehler worked with arts and crafts created from recycled materials. Ms. Mary Kate Fisher worked with sculptures and mobiles created from objects found on the beach.

All students were provided with a brief presentation from each artist, followed by time to create their own related artwork. Hopefully you have not only seen their creations, but also have heard from your children about how they were made. Children saw that art is for everyone — not just professional artists — and that it can be enjoyed in an endless variety of ways, by people of all ages.

If there had been a proverbial “fly on the wall,” it would have witnessed the many benefits of the program. From the looks on the students’ faces during the presentations, to their conversations with the artists, their reaction to each others’ work and, of course, their own creations. Many thanks to the Visiting Artists for sharing their time

Summer Safety Tips

The United States Coast Guard Auxiliary, "we care," reminds their fellow boaters that hot summer weather poses special safety concerns. During the summer season the effects of the sun, and heat, combined with the marine boating environment prompts special precautions.

If the sun can damage paint, imagine what it can do to unprotected skin and eyes. A sunscreen with a high SPF number should be worn. Recent studies have shown that these products lose their effectiveness both in the bottle and on the skin. They should be purchased fresh at least annually, stored aboard in a cooler since heat tends to break down their preservatives, and should be reapplied often. UVA (Ultraviolet type A rays) not only cause sunburn, sun poisoning, wrinkles, skin cancer, and the like, but can damage unprotected eyes as well. Boaters should protect eyes with a good pair of UV-rated sunglasses.

Coastal Hearing Care

383 Rockdale Ave., New Bedford • 996-5631

Hearing aids may help many people hear better, but individual results may vary.

Wearing lightweight long clothing not only protects boaters from the sun, but also helps the body maintain a proper temperature. Add a broad-rimmed hat to the ensemble, not only for fashion, but for safety. Wearing bathing suits on boats is traditional, but may not afford necessary protection. If a member of the crew should succumb to the heat, it is very important to catch the problem early before heat prostration or heat stroke is manifested. At the first sign of a heat-related problem (feeling tired and/or weak), give the person lots of water or a sport electrolytic replacing drink. Cool them down. Bathe them with wet cloths and fan them. Drinks with alcohol and sugar may taste good, but actually aid in dehydration. Remember that older folks and small children lose fluids rapidly.

The average boater is not familiar with "Marine Environmental Fatigue Syndrome." This is a condition that affects both judgment and coordination caused by prolonged exposure to the sun, wind, motion, noise and occasionally breathing exhaust fumes. These are the conditions found while boating during any season. However, they are amplified during the summer because of heat and humidity. The symptoms of this syndrome are the same as intoxication, which include: lack of coordination, poor depth perception, poor judgment and just plain fatigue. Special caution should be taken to avoid the use of alcohol since the effect of these beverages is linear while on the water.

"Be prepared" is not only a good motto for the Boy Scouts, but is a wise rule of boating. Remember, you may be planning to go out for a short time, but you could be out for a long time. Boats do break down, and when they do boaters need to have emergency items and rations on board to survive. Have all of the required safety equipment. The USCG Auxiliary will give you a free, no obligation VSC (Vessel Safety Check). The prudent skipper always makes out a float plan. This is a simple precaution. Just write down: a short description and number of your boat, where you will be going, the route you will follow, how long you will be there, and what time folks should get worried and call authorities. Then, leave it with someone who will miss you if you don't return by the "worry time."

Taking a boating safety program from the USCG Auxiliary is an excellent idea. Generally speaking, the savings on boating insurance recovers the minimal cost

Marion Art Center

Forever Plaid!

Reservations are now being accepted for the Marion Art Center's summer cabaret musical, Forever Plaid! The show opens on Thursday, July 5 and runs July 6, 7, 13, 14, 15, 19, 20 and 21 at 8:00 pm.

One of the most popular and successful musicals in recent memory, this deliciously goofy revue centers on four young, eager male singers, killed in a car crash in the 1950s on the way to their first big concert, and now miraculously revived for the posthumous chance to fulfill their dreams and perform the show that never was.

"The Plaids" are played by local actors/musicians Steve Rogers, Christopher Morey, Steve Hemingway, and Christopher Gunderson. They sing in the closest of harmony, squabble over the smallest intonations, and execute outlandish choreography under the direction of Paul Sardinha. The program of beloved songs and delightful patter has kept audiences rolling in the aisles for years as well as humming along to some of the great nostalgic pop hits of the '50s such as "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," "No, Not Much," "Jamaica Farewell," "Day-O," "Perfidia," "Three Coins in the Fountain," "Chain Gang," "Moments to Remember," and lots more.

The New York Post described Forever Plaid! as "Entirely enchanting, utterly entertaining ... will put a smile on your face, a hum in your throat and a tap to your feet." Seating is limited. There are some tables available for parties of four or more. Reservations are recommended and can be made by calling 508-748-1266. Plan a fifties party! Call now! The Marion Art Center is located at the corner of Main and Pleasant Streets in Marion.

An Invitational Show opens at the Marion Art Center on Friday, June 29 with a reception from 6:00 to 8:00 pm to meet the featured artists: Richard Marthers, Mike Mazer, and Charles Parsons.

Richard Marthers is a Rhode Island watercolor artist who focuses primarily on New England landscape and architectural subjects. During the summer, he participates in outdoor shows in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Memberships include the Wickford Art Association and Associate member of the American Watercolor Society. Mr. Marthers holds a BS in Art Education from Rhode Island College and has been teaching watercolor and the Rhode Island School of Design for over 13 years. He also offers private classes at his studio in Warwick, RI. Last year, Mr. Marthers won first place in watercolor at Newport's Art on the Lawn and also won Best of Show 2000 at the Burrville Art Festival.

Mike Mazer is a Mattapoisett resident and is a nationally- and internationally-known marine artist. As a youngster, Mike drew and won art competitions, but his art career was put on hold while he pursued a 30-year career in medicine, working as Chief of Cardiology and Nephrology at the Cardinal Cushing and Goddard Hospitals, now the Good Samaritan Medical Center. In 1993, Mike began studying painting seriously. He has been juried into over 80 national and international exhibitions where he has received many awards including the American Artists Professional League's Grand National, the Winsor and Newton Award in 1999 and the Georgia Watercolor Society's 2000 National Exhibition, first prize at both the Laredo Center for the Arts National Exhibition 2000 in Texas and locally at Quincy's Marina Bay's Arts Affair. Mike is a signature member of the New England Watercolor Society (where he sits on the Board of Directors), the American Painters League, International Society of Marine Painters, and Cape Cod Art Association, North Shore Art Association, and the Canton Art Association. He recently was designated a Coast Guard Artist with the COGAP program and his work is in many private and public collections.

Charles Parsons is a well-known New England painter who resides in Marion. Like Mike Mazer, he was a physician for many years and started the Sports Medicine Clinic and was an orthopedic surgeon. After retiring, he began to paint full time. A versatile artist, Mr. Parsons' subjects range from local landscapes and seascapes in watercolor to motorcycles and portraits in oil. He recently played the part of "Rembrandt" at the gala opening of the show of the same name at the Gardner Museum in Boston. He is a member of the Copley Society and often participates in their "Fresh Paint Auction" around Boston.

The three-person show will be installed at both galleries at the Marion Art Center through July 25. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Friday, 1:00 to 5:00 pm, and Saturday, 10:00 am to 2:00 pm. Admission is free. For more information, please call 508-748-1266.

Mattapoisett Public Library

Summer Reading Program

You and your child are invited to participate in this year's Summer Reading Program: "Reading Is Out of This World!" at the Mattapoisett Free Public Library through August 15. There will be programs and events celebrating space, the environment, fantasy, exploration, and much more! Most of all, the program will celebrate the joy of reading.

Premiere highlights of this summer's events for preschoolers, school-aged kids, and young adults include: Read-To-Me and Readers Clubs; Drop-In Crafts; Storytimes; Well-Known Storyteller Len Cabral; Reading Buddies; and more! Great activities are planned for the summer, but "Reading Is Out of This World!" is more than a recreational program. It also encourages children and families to read through the summer.

Families that read together provide the strongest model for future readers. Research shows that young children from families that visit the library at least monthly show significantly more signs of emerging literacy than kids whose families aren't library users.

Library events are free-of-charge. To participate, register at the library or for more information please call 508-758-4171.

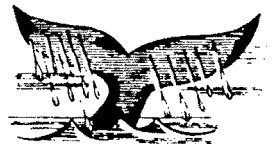

Adjusted Hours

The Mattapoisett Public Library is now open 38 hours a week! New hours are: Tuesday 10:00 am to 6:00 pm; Wednesday 10:00 am to 8:00 pm; Thursday 10:00 am to 6:00 pm; Friday 10:00 am to 5:00 pm; and Saturday 10:00 am to 3:00 pm. The library is closed Sunday and Monday. To renew items or reserve museum passes, please call 508-758-4171. You can also search the WebCat from home at www.sailsinc.org.

The largest model (of Joshua Slocum's Spray, the first boat to sail around the world single-handed) is a full model including sails and rig.

Peter was co-founder of Edey and Duff, custom boat builders in Mattapoisett. He retired after sixteen years of Parkinson's disease and returned to his childhood hobby of building models. His models are in many private collections as well as the New Bedford Whaling Museum, the Fairhaven Historical Society, and the Fairhaven Chowder House. Peter's wife, Maggie Duff, curates the exhibition.

Peter Martin, a teacher at Old Rochester Regional High School and also a Mattapoisett resident, is curator of the folk art exhibition Traditional Eastern European Cut Paper by Miraslava Graboska Pissarenko. In addition to cut paper, the exhibition includes intricately decorated eggs and woodcarvings. Miraslava Graboska Pissarenko, who is now 92 years old and still cuts paper daily, has been a visiting artist at Center School and Old Hammondtown School. Peter Martin, also a folk artist, met the artist while living on the Cape when they studied Scrimshaw together.

The Museum's summer exhibitions also include Working Boats: Portraits from a Fishing Harbor, featuring large-scale paintings by Vineyard artist Rez Williams of the New Bedford and Fairhaven fishing fleet. Hand-crafted fishing boat models by Reidar Bendicksen will also be on display.

MOVIE REVIEW

Fathom Menace

By Kenneth J. Souza
movies@wanderer.com

Atlantis: The Lost Empire. With voices of Michael J. Fox and James Garner. Directed by Gary Trousdale and Kirk Wise. Rated PG. Running time: 90 minutes. At the North Dartmouth Mall and Flagship Cinemas.

This summer is shaping up to be a prime season for animation. And given that we're well into 2001 with all its Kubrickian connotations, it's appropriate that the much-maligned Disney studio has forgone its typical bland, "uplifting" moral plays in favor of a straightforward science-fiction action-adventure romp titled Atlantis: The Lost Empire. Those expecting the usual Disney fare of cute creatures belting out Oscar-worthy production numbers or lush, meticulous panoramic scenes that would look better hanging on a museum wall than on a multiplex screen may be sadly disappointed with Atlantis.

I, on the other hand, have grown weary of the recent Disney renaissance, post-Little Mermaid and Beauty and the Beast. As such, I found Atlantis a welcomed breath of fresh air — a smart, slick slice of adventure more in the tradition of the Indiana Jones films and Disney's own classic live-action 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea (to which this film owes a noticeable debt) than The Lion King. Gone are the aforementioned soundtrack staples, the cute ready-for-fast-food-fodder critters, and the plodding and predictable plot. What Atlantis delivers, instead, is a solid blend of action, adventure and sci-fi that just so happens to be couched in the guise of an animated feature.

Pivoting its tale on the well-known legend of the lost city of Atlantis, submerged somewhere beneath fathoms of ocean, the film presents us with ersatz hero and scholar Milo James Thatch (voiced with great glee by Michael J. Fox), whose grandfather devoted his life's work to finding the elusive city of myth. When a former and well-to-do colleague of the late, elder Thatch offers Milo a chance to embark on an expedition to "discover" Atlantis, he is teamed up with a colorful rag-tag cast of characters including standouts Phil Morris (who played the Johnny Cochrane-type lawyer on Seinfeld) as the imposing Dr. Sweet and the great Don Novello (a/k/a "Father Guido Sarducci") as Mafioso-type explosives expert Vinnie Santorini.

Directors Gary Trousdale and Kirk Wise (Disney's The Hunchback of Notre Dame) move the many action scenes along briskly and make great use of the impressive, broadstroke comic-book visual style, especially in the later aquatic Atlantis scenes. Key screenwriting credit is given to Tab Murphy (also of The Hunchback of Notre Dame), but I noticed Joss Whedon's (Buffy the Vampire Slayer) name tucked among a bevy of story/script credits at the end ... which is not surprising given Whedon's penchant for witty group dynamics (a-la the so-called "Scooby Gang" in his own TV series). The expedition group here seems vaguely familiar: renegades following a reluctant hero-figure on a dangerous and difficult quest. Replace Milo with Buffy and you get the picture.

Atlantis is a smart and savvy animated film that's equally entertaining for both young and old alike. And like recent adult-friendly non-Disney offerings, The Iron Giant and Titan A.E., it also shows that animation isn't just for kids anymore. With noticeable hints of the Japanimation influence throughout, Atlantis hails a maturing Disney bringing their formidable talents into the 21st century. For the thankful absence of singing animals alone, it's music to these (mouse) ears!

Brick of Kubrick

By Rob Gonsalves

<http://robsreviews.cjb.net>

• The Stanley Kubrick Collection. A boxed set of nine DVDs: Lolita, Dr. Strangelove, 2001: A Space Odyssey, A Clockwork Orange, Barry Lyndon, The Shining, Full Metal Jacket, Eyes Wide Shut, and Stanley Kubrick: A Life in Pictures. Suggested retail price: $179.99. Available now in stores or online.

Finally, in the year Stanley Kubrick made famous, comes the DVD collection of his masterpieces that Warner should've put out in the first place. Two summers ago, in the wake of Kubrick's death and preceding the release of his final film Eyes Wide Shut, Warner hastily slapped together a boxed set of all his films from 1962 to 1987. The objections to this set were heated and numerous, beginning with the complaint that the image quality wasn't up to current DVD standards. To many eyes, Warner had spat on a legend by commissioning this rush job, particularly since the words "rush job" were not in the notoriously exacting Kubrick's vocabulary.

All is forgiven. The new Stanley Kubrick Collection is worth every penny of its hefty price tag (though you can probably find it cheaper than its $180 retail). There are still a few miniscule flaws: Any Kubrick set missing his great Paths of Glory and his first epic Spartacus (both available on DVD from other companies) feels a tad incomplete, as if Kubrick's career didn't begin until Lolita. And the latter three films in the collection still aren't letterboxed, though Kubrick shot them full-frame — a square image approximating that of a television screen — and apparently intended them to be viewed this way on home video, since, as legend has it, he was horrified by how his widescreen 2001 was butchered on TV, and resolved thereafter to compose his films so that they would look acceptable on TV and home video.

A note on that, for those Kubrick fans who may be holding off on buying these new DVDs because The Shining, Full Metal Jacket and Eyes Wide Shut aren't letterboxed. These full-frame transfers don't crop out any of the image on the sides, the way "pan and scan" tapes usually do; you just get a lot of headroom that was matted over in theaters to create more of a rectangular frame. At worst, you might see things you weren't meant to see, like the helicopter blades during the opening credits of The Shining (which, in theaters, were covered by the matte). The additional headroom is particularly noticeable in Full Metal Jacket — you can easily picture where the matte would have gone. Personally, I think the discs should have included the full-frame version on one side and the letterboxed version on the other, as many DVDs do. And, since Barry Lyndon and A Clockwork Orange are (barely) letterboxed at 1.66, with very slim bars on the top and bottom, I can't really see why he would've judged those films worthy of letterboxing and others not.

But why complain — especially when these movies have never looked or sounded better (except maybe inside Kubrick's head)? Barry Lyndon in particular, said to be the botch of the bunch last time, has been significantly cleaned up this time; it's finally beautiful again. And The Shining, which never struck me as being particularly dazzling visually — owing to years of watching the shoddy videotape transfer or worn-out theatrical prints — now asserts itself more than ever as spiritual kin to Kubrick's other misunderstood movie, Eyes Wide Shut; the two have a similar chilly approach to their tales of obsessive, frustrated husbands.

You've never heard these films this way before, either. After 2001 and until Eyes Wide Shut, Kubrick offered all his movies in mono sound — he didn't trust theaters to deliver a perfect stereo presentation, so he didn't bother designing stereo soundtracks. Now, though, since most DVD geeks are also sound geeks, restoration supervisor Leon Vitali (who first met Kubrick when acting in Barry Lyndon) chose to give most of the films (from 2001 to Full Metal Jacket) new Dolby Digital 5.1 mixes. Even if you don't have a stereo system hooked up to your TV, the difference is obvious and sometimes shocking; the soundtrack music for The Shining has never been so aggressive — it's loud — and Clockwork's lovely Ludwig van conspires with Walter Carlos' Moog to do some ultraviolence to your eardrums.

How about extras? For the most part, the movies are allowed to speak for themselves, which is a nice way of saying that, ha-ha, there aren't many extras. I still say audio commentaries by various people involved in the movies — Malcolm McDowell on Clockwork, Jack Nicholson on The Shining, Lee Ermy shouting at us throughout Full Metal Jacket — would've been nice. But The Shining does carry over the excellent short documentary Making The Shining by Kubrick's daughter Vivian, who catches Kubrick and cast members at their most frazzled.

In a way, Vivian's film — which offers the rare pleasure of actually watching Kubrick at work — is preferable to Jan Harlan's film, Stanley Kubrick: A Life in Pictures, the 143-minute documentary available only with the set. To be sure, the film is compelling for Kubrick nerds, particularly when it unearths footage of Kubrick at ten years old; those who think of him only as the bearded, imposing Master of his later years will find this childhood footage amusing and humanizing. And there's decent (if sometimes superficial) coverage of each film, with corresponding interviews (though no Ryan O'Neal for Barry Lyndon, nobody from Full Metal Jacket except Matthew Modine, and various other odd omissions) and some behind-the-scenes footage.

A Life in Pictures sells Kubrick not only as a genius (we knew that) but as a mostly well-liked and well-adjusted guy (we don't care). I enjoyed watching it once, but those who choose to buy some of the films on DVD individually shouldn't feel left out if they pass on the documentary. It isn't something you're likely to watch over and over, impressed anew each time by the brilliance of Kubrick. That's what his films are for.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your efforts to keep the lines of communication open pay off. Expect to hear news that could help you achieve one of your long-held objectives. A relationship needs more attention.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) That vexing situation might be causing the sensitive Bovine to see red. But bide your time and collect all the facts before confronting the suspected troublemaker head-on.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Curiosity can be a double-edged sword. You should, indeed, learn more about a person who is now in your life. But be diplomatic; probing too deeply, too soon can backfire.
CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Your financial picture improves, but you still need to shop cautiously and resist going on a spending spree. Your present restraint helps you avoid potential money woes down the line.
LEO (July 23 to August 22) Your Leonine leadership skills are put to the test when you're asked to take command of a difficult situation that urgently needs resolving. A friend from the past offers to help.
VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Your Virgan inclination to offer unsolicited counsel could create hard feelings. It's best to wait until you're asked for your advice before dispensing it so freely.
LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) A misunderstanding delays your chance to straighten out problems at the workplace. But an explanation soon helps settle things to everyone's satisfaction.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Home improvements are favored. Make a list of what needs to be done, and get started. Consider donating things you no longer use to a worthy charity.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Use your innate horse sense to help you make the right move with a major purchase. Be wary of those who try to rush you into making a decision.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Ease up on that penchant of yours to reshape the world according to your specifications. Be more tolerant of those who have different views of what life is all about.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A series of fluctuating circumstances continues to dominate your current aspects. Remember to stay focused on the positive possibilities that these changes can bring.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You can get things done better than most people. So don't let those naysayers douse your enthusiasm. Get back in the swim and start making waves as only you can.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a natural talent for bringing people and elements together. You'd make a fine research scientist, pharmacist or even a master chef.

So let "For Sentimental Reasons" bring you back, or introduce you, to the bittersweet songs that define an era and the swing tunes that will set your toes tapping and your spirits soaring!

"For Sentimental Reasons" will be performing on Friday, June 29 at the Fairhaven High School Performing Arts Center located on Larch Avenue (in back of Fairhaven High School). Their performance will begin at 8:00 pm and will include songs such as "Route 66," "Paper Doll," "Moonlight Serenade," "Accentuate the Positive," and many others.
